Public Assistance

What is Basic Food?

In Washington State, Basic Food, also known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), EBT, and/or food stamps, provides individuals and families with more money for groceries.
<https://www.dshs.wa.gov/esa/community-services-offices/basic-food>

How it works: Each month, Basic Food dollars are automatically loaded onto an EBT card, which functions similarly to a prepaid debit card. Your EBT card is accepted at grocery stores, limited online stores, and at many farmers markets.

Immigration Status: Basic Food is not considered as part of the public charge rule and does not impact immigration status. Mixed-status households can ALWAYS apply on behalf of eligible children.

Other Benefits with Basic Food:

- SNAP Market Match allows individuals and families to double their Basic Food benefits at WA state farmers markets.
- Community and technical college students qualify for the Basic Food Employment and Training \(BFET\) program, an education and work training program that can help with books, tuition, and childcare subsidies. Cascadia College: <https://www.cascadia.edu/programs/workforce.aspx>
- Sign up for a reduced cost YMCA membership in the Greater Seattle Area
- Many local attractions offer reduced cost tickets including the Seattle Aquarium and some Seattle museums.
- Children in families with Basic Food are automatically enrolled in Free or Reduced School Meals and may be eligible for the Women Infant and Children \(WIC\) program.

HOW TO SIGN UP?

Students must complete a) an application and b) an interview with DSHS in order to be eligible. You may complete an online application by using the www.WashingtonConnection.org website, applying by phone at 877-501-2233 or going to your local Community Services Office.
